FOR ANOTHER TRIAL
GROWS BRIGHTEREfforts to Break Down Case for Convicted Slayer Not Successful So Far.(Special From a Staff Correspondent of The Evening World.)
BOSTON, Sept. 20.—(Continued) In obtaining a new trial for Charles Stielow, the half-witted farmer who was sentenced to death for the murder of Charles Phelps and his housekeeper, Margaret Wolcott, at West Haverhill and was hanged at the last minute by an order to show cause issued by Justice Gray of New York City, are greatly encouraged by the developments of the arguments which began Thursday before Justice Hodges.District Attorney Kitchener, of Orleans County, his law partner, Harry A. Blake and Thomas A.
Kerry, who delivered the chief argument against an order to show cause which would open a new trial for Stielow, have completed their attacks on the evidence adduced in Stielow's favor and the evidence does not appear to have been damaged.The hearing will last through several days more as Justice Hodges has determined to go into every phase of this remarkable case.
Chief interest centers around Edwin King, the man who confessed that he and Clarence O'Connell killed Phelps and Miss Wolcott and later, after he had been visited by Dis-trict Attorney Kitchener, went back on his confession.
King, who was brought to Rochester by Deputy Sheriff yesterday, was taken back to his hotel in the Orleans County jail in Albany last night.
He was brought back here again this morning and a new confession was made during the day. Over what King may say there is much interest.
It is reported to have said yesterday that after the hearing was over and he is out of jail again, he is to be made Mayor of Albany, N. Y.To Mr. King was added the task of being the first to enter the jail and to be the first to leave a group of prisoners who he should have a new trial.
An attack on Justice Gray's order to show cause and to set aside a judgment of the superior power, which is a matter of the law, was before the trial set for the execution, requiring the Orleans County District Attorney to show cause on Aug. 23 why a new trial should not be granted, he also incorporated in it a stay of execution inasmuch as the execution of the prisoner was imminent, unless this stay was included in the order the execution of the prisoner would have been carried out.
Kerry argued that Justice Gray had absolutely no right to stay the execution and that he was doing so was exceeding the power of the Court of Appeals and usurping the power of the Governor of the State. He wants Justice Hodges to set this stay aside.WILSON TO STAND ON FOUR ISSUES
IN HIS TRIP WESTGoes to Country on Peace, Prosperity, Business Preparedness and Eight-Hour Law.ASHBURY PARK, N. J., Sept. 20.— Four issues—peace, prosperity, business preparedness and the Eight Hour Law—will be enunciated by President Wilson when he goes into the country to wind up his campaign for re-election, it was learned to-day. These issues he regards as the ones upon which the voters will vindicate or denounce his Administration.The President is feeling fit, appears a trifle heavier and says he is in great trim for the coming trip West.
He is enthusiastic about going—as is Mrs. Wilson, who will accompany him everywhere. It will be Mrs. Wilson's first taste of a real campaign and she is entering into it with zest.
The man on the street, the President believes, is thankful, first of all, that his country is at peace. For that reason his foremost issue will be an appeal to the voters not to accept what the President terms "radical change of policy which may alter the whole aspect of the nation's life" and "endanger the present peace of peace and good will with the world." Secondly, he will point to the great prosperity of the country and define how the Administration has placed a legislative bulwark under this to preclude the possibility of financial depression at the conclusion of the European war.He plans to offer a constructive policy to meet the unprecedented economic conditions which will arise when Europe again is able to enter the competitive markets of trade. In this he will appeal particularly to the young men as those upon whom "the future development of the country depends in an unusual and peculiar degree." He will urge the "cultivation of imagination, vigor, vision and enterprise" to meet the new era.Finally the President will challenge his political critics to meet squarely the eight-hour day issue and state what they would have done in a situation similar to that confronting him recently when a great railroad strike was threatened."Would you now, if in power, repeal the Adamson Law?" is a question which may be expected by Hughes in the near future.The President to-day arranged to resume conferences with newspapermen which were a feature of the first two years of his administration.
Through this medium he is expected to discuss political subjects freely and expound them for the country.
Soon after entering the White House the President inaugurated the policy of seeing Washington correspondents twice a week and submit-ing to a cross-fire of questions on all kinds of subjects from them. Because of the European war, Mr. Wilson stopped the conferences. He now plans to see newspaper men twice a week while at Shadow Lawn.No Conspiracy Found Against ington County Grand Jury at Salem re-

Corsets for Autumn and Winter*"Whatever you feel you would like in your heart to do," says a certain wise man, "keep on wishing; you may do it, and meantime be sure to seize all the little opportunities afforded you."If you would like to be better looking, in other words, the point is to take stock of yourself; find out whether you can be healthier or sweeter tempered; whether you are wearing the most becoming colors; whether your lines are as good as they might be—a plump woman can be every bit as graceful as a slender one, if her flesh is well distributed; whether you are dressing to your type or against it.
And somewhere in the course of the catechism you put yourself through there is sure to be the question of corsets—which reminds us that—There is hardly any corset question that the L. R. Corset manufacturers cannot answer by means of the hundred or more models which they turn out, priced all the way from $1 upward. And from the lowest to the highest, each of these models is a standard of good style, good materials and good making.The silk L. R.'s belong in a group all by themselves—and cost $5 upward.A group of L. R.'s at $5 includes a low-top model and a pink broche heavily boned.

L. R.'s for short women are $1.50, $2 and $3.

For large women there are the "Housekeepers' Comfort" and the "Perfect Fitting," each $3.
Models for growing girls, short or with girder tops, are $1 and $1.50. Others in white are $1 to $2.
Still others, light and low, are $3 and $3.50. Corset Salons, Third Floor, Old Bldg.THE JOHN WANAMAKER STORE
